SAFETY

That word SAFETY is real.

It is true.

Because, backing up every dollar we loan is sound, tangible real estate.

Our business has to be conducted that way.

Our charter provides real estate as the only security we can take for a loan.

And every great student of business and values agrees that LAND is the soundest form of value.

So when we say SAFETY, we mean SAFETY—and we are fully entitled to use this word.

AUTO THEFTS IN YEAR TOTAL $70,000,000

BY EDWARD THIERRY

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Automobile thieves are reaping the biggest harvest in history. Best estimates show cars stolen this year will number 70,000, their total value being $70,000,000.

Insurance agents say depression impelled many to abandon high-priced cars and collect insurance for "thefts." Carelessness of automobile owners is another big factor. Tests revealed that most owners do not lock their cars.

Detectives made a test in New York streets. They counted 84 cars equipped with locks, 65 of which were not locked. "Is it any wonder that insurance companies are tightening up the regulations on automobile insurance?" said W. P. Young, secretary of the National Automobile Underwriters Conference. "Fifteen per cent off is given if a car is equipped with a lock. What good is the best car in the world if it isn't locked?"

A tremendous increase in automobile thefts in shown by figures for New York city and for nine eastern and New England states.

Thefts here more than doubled in 1921 over 1920. Fewer stolen cars are recovered.

Thirty thousand automobiles were stolen in 28 large cities during 1920. Chicago leading with 5,500 and New York next with 5,200. This total has greatly increased during 1921.

In Eleven States

Secretary Young of the Underwriters Conference furnishes the following statistics for thefts and recoveries in 11 states, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, Maryland, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine:

	Stolen		Recovered
	1921	1920	1921	1920
Aug.	701	267	138	107
Sept.	764	364	201	127
Oct.	830	420	249	170

Total ... 2,295 1,051 688 407
These were insured cars only. The total number of cars stolen in these states during the three months were nearly 4,000. For it is estimated that only about 60 per cent of all cars stolen are insured against theft.

New York Figures

Automobile thefts became so numerous in New York city that some months ago the police department discontinued the practice of reporting thefts to newspapers. Insurance companies have just made public these figures of thefts of insured cars in New York city:

	Stolen		Recovered
	1921	1920	1921	1920
Aug.	308	11	68	4
Sept.	298	150	45	4
Oct.	335	181	61	5

This table shows not only a huge increase in thefts, but also a decrease in recovery of stolen cars. Insured cars recovered in New York in 1920 totaled 133, or 29 per cent, while in 1921 the number recovered was 174, only 35 per cent.

In nine months last year 1420 cars were stolen in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North and South Carolina and Virginia. The thefts have increased this year.

In the entire country there were registered last year 8,369,605 passenger automobiles.

His Royal Nibs, hath decreed, spoken, venerated thusly, 'Gather ye together, all ye Arabs, Princes, Sheiks, Mahedis, Bedouins, Snake Charmers, Tiger Feeders, Camel Keepers, Goat Herders, Date Pickers and all the faithful followers of sunshine and happiness, and when ye hear the tinkle, tinkle of the

Another Wail From Tanktown

The Tanktown Register chirps thus:

Wellston claims that they really defeated the Tanks last Sunday, that they scored a touchdown and everything. This is an unmitigated falsehood and the player or players who made it know that such is the case. The fans who were on the sidelines knows that Vaughn Davies dove into that struggling mass of humanity the moment he drew his referee's whistle last Sunday and that the ball's location did not vary a half foot either way on one down, then it kept going back until it was finally three yards from the goal on the fourth down. The last night effort was stopped by old Bill Brooks himself, who hurried himself through the air, caught the big Harry Pope, felled him behind the line. As to the fans being partisan, they have not yet this season, been unfair and the spirit of true sportsmanship would not permit any fan arrange them to withdraw any money that they might have wagered on the outcome of the game, if their team lost. Wellston is to play Portsmouth next Sunday afternoon.

Judge Spanks 'Em In Court'

JUDGE E. E. PORTERFIELD

By NEA Service
KANSAS CITY, November.—"Spare the rod and spoil the child. That isn't original but it's true." That's how Judge E. E. Porterfield explains the "public execution" that took place in his court when he spanked four boys for truancy.

Spanking is forbidden in Kansas City schools. And the boys' parents wouldn't spank them for "playing hooky."

So they were hauled into Judge Porterfield's court. Sending them to a reform farm was the only legal punishment open to him. At the threat of that the boys smiled, anticipating a long vacation.

So the judge took off one of his oxfords and applied it deftly to each boy.

"Now are you going to school?" he asked.

"We are," the four chorled. And they did.

Mr. Grubb, it was stated Friday, has bought the Hub cafe and poolroom at Eleventh and Lawton streets, which he formerly conducted and he will continue the business. The place has been conducted for the past several months under the firm name of Copelan and O'Toole.

The program opened with a number by the choir, the invocation was given by Rev. B. R. Reed, pastor of the church. The choir followed with a beautiful number, "The Heavens Resound." The readings by Marjorie Gerlach and Myron Williams won much applause. Both male and female quartettes were forced to respond to several encores, the program closed with the singing of America.

Those who took part in the program were: Soprano, Mrs. Earl Brockman and Miss Violet McFarland; Contraltos, Mrs. E. N. Fetter and Miss Bess True; Tenors, Earl Reinhardt, Elmer Fetter; Basses, C. M. Howland and Walter Adams.

This excellent program was secured by Mrs. Miles to raise funds for the new church building on the corner of 15th and Waller streets.

High School Students Present Play Tonight

The Revellers will present one of the best comedies ever offered by a high school organization, when they stage "Nothing But The Truth" at the High School auditorium tonight and tomorrow.

After seeing the final rehearsals yesterday, it is safe to recommend the play as a comedy that is unique in plot, with funny lines and situations from start to finish. Every member of the cast has his or her lines perfected and the play is sure to make a big hit. "Nothing But The Truth" is just a little different from anything yet attempted by high school students in this city. It is a play that has been presented with great success on the professional stage, in fact the Revellers were compelled to pay a large royalty for its use here.

"Nothing But The Truth" is the story of the comic incidents that follow one another in rapid succession during the twenty-four hours after Bob, the leading man of the play, makes a bet of ten thousand dollars, with three of his friends, that he can tell the absolute truth for a day. He tells the truth, and thereby causes much trouble for the men and women with whom he deals, and they are willing to call it off before the day is over—but Bob makes them stick to the bargain. In this play, at least the truth is the source of a lot of trouble. The play is good for at least a laugh a minute.

Mrs. H. E. Eccles has directed the play and deserves much of the credit for its success. The students who are members of the dramatic club have also worked hard, and are showing real dramatic ability in their parts.

The cast for the presentation tonight is as follows:

"Due to kidney trouble, my entire system was run down," says Mrs. Laura Simons, of 620 Campbell avenue, Portsmouth. "Relief came almost immediately when I took Pepsin. At first, I ceased to have a dull, dragging pain in my back and then, I developed a good appetite and feelings of energy."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

PAUL IN MELITA AND IN ROME. ACTS 28:1-16

By REV. CHARLES E. OAKLEY

GOLDEN TEXT—"I am ready to preach the gospel to you also that are in Rome. For I am not ashamed of the gospel; for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." Rom. 1:15-16.

The two hundred and seventy-six souls on board the wrecked vessel were safe on shore, and found that they were on the island of Melita. The natives showed them much kindness, building a fire by which they could dry their clothes and warm themselves. The word here means food about the viper and did not mean what we mean by it, but is used as we use the term "reign."

Paul, like all the rest, was helping keep up the fire and a viper fastened on his hand. The people were superstitious and thought that he was a murderer and justice was being meted out to him. They knew the poison of the viper and expected him to fall down dead, but when this did not happen, they thought him a god. Christianity saves us from all these superstitious notions. Jesus had promised to save them from all such and here we see Paul benefit by that promise.

Paul showed his appreciation of the kindness shown him and his fellow sufferers by leading the sick. They spent three months on the island and no doubt Paul took advantage of his opportunity to preach the gospel to the natives as well as the soldiers and sailors.

In due time they took another vessel to complete their journey and Paul was safely delivered to the authorities in Rome. No doubt the good impression that he had made on the Centurion was the cause of his being given privileges with a prisoner at Rome. He lived in his own hired house with a soldier to guard him.

Paul sends for the Jews and they came and he tells them the story of his life. They were so interested that a day was appointed when Paul could go into detail about the whole matter and he talked to them from morning until night, with the result that some believed and some doubted. Then Paul quoted Esaias the prophet to them that they would hear but not understand. Thus warning them he turned to the Gentiles. For two full years Paul remained receiving all who came to him and preached the gospel of the kingdom. His guard was changed often and thus he won many soldiers and some even of Caesar's household.

With this lesson we close this marvelous book of Acts which closes without finishing its interesting story. Probably the author died. Anyway for some unknown reason the story is cut short without telling the outcome. We will continue the study of the life of Paul, but will get our material from other sources. What a wonderful life Paul lived. What influence he had on the world. You and I have the same privilege to live like Paul and exert a great influence on the generation in which we live and probably on generations yet unborn. Be true, be loyal. Consecrate your life to Christ and you too, will inherit a crown.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN DOUBLE MURDER; CHAMBLIN HAS BEEN DOING SOME TALKING IN DEATH CELL

Conceder Dr. J. D. Hendrickson stated Friday that reports had reached him, and apparently from authentic sources, that Roy Chamblin, condemned to die in the electric chair on February 24, has been doing some talking about the double murder to persons who have called on him.

It is rumored that he has admitted that John W. Newman was in the house only a short time when he was shot down. It was stated today that possibly next week a local official would call on Chamblin with a view of getting the real truth as to how Newman and Miss Louise Doyle met their tragic death. Several officials have always contended that Chamblin was not telling the truth and that the couple was killed outside of the death cottage.

In substantiation of this statement, they point to the fact that the keys of Newman's machine were found on the dash of his car and they contend that if Newman had gotten out of the car of his own volition, the first thing he would have done was to have looked in his car and taken the keys with him.

They also contend that Newman did not know the cottage was vacant and had no intention of going there, he and Miss Doyle having gone for a ride when they encountered Chamblin. A prominent attorney who has been investigating all angles of the mysterious affair stated today that it was his opinion that Chamblin at the point of his gun compelled Miss Doyle to enter the cottage and shortly after they entered Newman followed them. "When Newman entered the cottage, Chamblin began his shooting," the attorney continued. "It is probably true that Newman in going to the rescue of Miss Doyle hurled a brick or boulder at the gun-user."

The attorney said today that he expected to call on Chamblin in the death cell shortly in an effort to wrest the real truth of the killing of the two victims from the condemned man.

SEZ MISS PUMPS AN' MISS GOLOSHES:

MISS PUMPS

TWO pairs of limbs met at a prominent corner. One pair stood forth out of a pair of neat but soaked satin pumps. The other was hidden within a pair of floppy goloshes.

Rain had followed a snow storm and great puddles of slush surrounded them.

The pumps and the goloshes eyed one another and—

SEZ MISS PUMPS
THIS IS NOT my season. True, they call me pumps—but why, oh, why should I constantly be filled with water? They never prime me! Dampness? My worst enemy! I gush with unhappiness whenever I encounter slush. At each step of my wearer I ooze tears of unhappiness. My only revenge is to chill the feet that wear me. I am a water-soaked wretch!

SEZ MISS GOLOSHES
THIS IS my season. Bring on your rain and your snow and your sloppy weather. Hold back the sunshine ere I be laid away in a dark closet. I am so built that I delight to delve in dampness. And at each delve I flap with happiness. At each step of my wearer I wrinkle into smiles. True, I hide the silken hose that rest in me, but hence the world does not look down upon me.

MISS GOLOSHES

Probing Child Murder

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—An inquest into the murder of Margaret Coughlin, aged 3, whose badly mutilated body was found yesterday in the home of Mrs. Joseph Penses and the inquest into the suicide of Mrs. Penses, who cut her throat as police were battering down the door, were continued today until December 15 to permit further investigation. Joseph Penses, husband of the woman, and his two daughters, Dolly, 17, and Josephine, 9, were released from custody after they had testified they knew nothing about the crime.

The only other witnesses heard were policemen, doctors and Edward Coughlin, a park policeman and father of the murdered child. The Coughlins lived across the street from the Penses home and the baby, Margaret, was the playmate of Josephine Penses.

SENTENCED TO REFORMATORY

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 2.—Carl Siegel, aged 27, who was found guilty of shooting to kill Barney Buchdolt, a guard at the penitentiary last December, was sentenced to the Mansfield reformatory today. Siegel is also wanted in Newark for burglary, but inasmuch as the prosecuting witness has gone to Nova Scotia that case will not be prosecuted until his release. Siegel committed the shooting while attempting to hold up the penitentiary guard near the penitentiary.

War Is Declared On Illiteracy

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Dec. 2.—American men and women were called upon today by Hamilton MacNider, commander of the American Legion, to join that organization and "do battle with the forces of ignorance so that the means will be provided to set free the millions from the bonds of illiteracy." The statement was issued in regard to American education week—December 4 to 10.

Commander MacNider said the legion and the National Education Association have joined hands to impress upon the country the importance of our youth for the problems of peace. He said every effort should be expended to make every tongue in the United States speak the English language and all people know something of our common history and form of government.

Britain Seeks To Bring Jap Demands Into Harmony With Those Of America

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Hope for an early settlement of the dispute arising from Japan's request for an increase from sixty to seventy per cent in the capital ship tonnage allotted her under the American limitation plan, centered today in the efforts of Great Britain to bring the Japanese views into harmony with those of the United States.

While precisely in what manner Great Britain has undertaken to use her influence in solving the naval ratio problem was not known today, it was indicated that, as an ally of Japan and having, on the other hand, accepted in principle the basic "5-5-3" ratio of the American proposal, she had found a double interest in the ultimate success of the negotiations. The situation was expected to remain a status quo today while the Japanese delegates, in the light of this new development, communicated further with Tokyo, where it is understood to be under consideration by the Japanese cabinet as well as by the diplomatic advisory council.

Meanwhile, principals on both sides of the controversy refused to view the situation as a deadlock today, the

Why Named "New Jersey."
The state of New Jersey was named in honor of the valorous defense of the island of Jersey against the parliamentary forces, made by Sir George Carteret in 1664.

But, on the Other Hand.
"Nope, George Washington never told a lie and never went up in an airship." "Yes, and there are a lot of other people who have never gone up in an airship."—Wayside Tales.

It became known Friday that Don W. Hopkins, treasurer of the Portsmouth Stove and Range Company, whose plant is located in the East End, has withdrawn from this firm. With this announcement came the news that Henry Scott, secretary of the company, would also after January 1, have no connection with this company, as he and Mr. Hopkins have disposed of their stock to Frank V. Knauss and A. W. Zubars.

It is understood that Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Scott have plans for the future but they are not in shape for publication.

They are two of the city's best known citizens and it is possible that their new interests may take them out of the city.

Successors to Mr. Scott and Mr. Hopkins will not be made, it was said today, until the Portsmouth Stove and Range Company holds its annual meeting in January.

"The changes will in no way affect our business," a member of the firm said Friday.

HOTEL CLERK WITNESS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—A. J. Niles, a hotel clerk, was the first witness called by the state today when the trial of Arthur C. Burch was resumed in the superior court. Burch is charged with the murder of J. Delton Kennedy here last August. Niles was employed at a hotel directly across Broadway from the office of Kennedy.

His testimony related to the obtaining of a front room by Burch a few days before the shooting, and the conduct of the tenant during the intervening days.

Niles said that Burch remained in his room much of the time and on one occasion was visited by a woman who shared a vigil that the clerk said Burch was keeping. He was unable to identify the woman, but gave a general description. Mrs. Madalynne Oenchain was indicted with Burch and the state has said it would endeavor to identify her as the woman who made the visit in question.

Burch's demeanor continued carefree; yesterday it was so much so that when a witness was testifying and interchanged smiles with the defendant the resultant laughter in the court room caused a sharp admonition to the spectators and the parties from the trial judge.

It is a novelette—the story of a want-ad guest and the quest for a Christmas crinkle.

"Christmas Light," by Ethel Calvert Phillips, is a beautiful story of the first miracle as it was performed by the Baby Jesus in the manger.

And "There was a Boy who Lived on Pudding Lane," by Sarah Addington, is the true account—if only you believe it—of the life and ways of Santa, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Claus. Grown-ups and youngsters will love this biography.

Also Zane Grey's serial, "The Call of the Cañon," stories by Albert Payson Terhune and Herbert Quick, and three beautiful Christmas pictures in full color.

On page 118 there are the jolliest Christmas cakes you ever saw—gingerbread postcards, snowballs, a jack-in-the-box, funny Noah's ark animals, and Santa himself with his reindeer on a glassy lake.

Did you ever think of giving little pies? Then page 124 will suggest something new to you.

Everybody wants lots and lots of candy for Christmas—to eat and to give away. The recipes on page 127 are unusual because they make really enough.

And nuts prepared as described on page 121 will give variety to the holiday table.

The women's club or ladies' aid society that wants to raise money for Christmas charities will find a splendid bazaar in Claire Wallis' "Brite and Fair," and the money may be happily spent as described by Edith Barnard Delano's "Christmas in our Town."

Fortifications

hardly wish to explore, that controversial field until a definite understanding has been reached on the basis of the original Hughes programme concerning limitation and reduction of vessels afloat as well as under construction.

Americans Most Generous
When fortifications are considered, the view of the American delegation will be found to be most generous. The Japanese cannot contend that the bases of the United States in the Pacific are of any value. American naval experts say, if the Hughes' programme of reduced strength goes into effect.

What Japs Really Want
What the Japanese really want is a promise that the United States will not build up her present fortifications or add new bases. This pledge probably would be forthcoming if reciprocated by the Japanese.

Pacific Intentions of U. S.
Naval bases bear a distinct relationship to naval strength if they are sufficiently near the scene of possible operations. If the United States were to conduct an offensive war against Japan, the naval base at Cavite in the Philippines would have to be much more effective, it is contended by the American experts than it is at present and the very fact that it has not been re-enforced, the Americans contend, is proof of the Pacific intentions of the United States. The fortification of Guam, however, is considered by America as more of a defensive of Hawaii.

than an outpost for offense though, to be sure, the American view is that the Japanese themselves know how little value are present facilities at Guam.

Japs Have Not Made Position Clear
The trouble is the Japanese have not yet made clear what it is they do want if they agree as seems inevitable to the 5-5-3 ratio. The American delegates have explained, of course, that the Japanese are not eager to take into account vessels under construction. Of course, if these are eliminated the 5-5-3 ratio would be disturbed but the American contention is that a vessel on which money has been spent is to that extent a part of a country's existing naval strength. First the Japanese contended that pre-dreadnaughts need not be extended even although more than twenty years old. American experts included them and still came to a 5-5-3 ratio. The representatives of the United States went still further and included the Matsun in the Japanese estimate of her own strength as a partly completed vessel and still reached a 5-5-3 conclusion. The Japanese for sentimental reasons want to keep the Matsun as she is ninety-eight per cent complete, but the United States has a battleship of similar strength also nearly completed and the original proposal to scrap everything under construction still stands. Secretary Hughes is arguing that if once the principle is violated, the whole structure of the American proposals is broken down. He insists that the vessels under construction must be counted in any ratio and must be scrapped. The United States has spent $230,000,000 already on ships in the process of building and the American delegation has told the Japanese that the public opinion of this country would not countenance the loss of such a large sum of money unless Japan was willing also to scrap everything she was building. In other words the sentimental fondness of the Japanese for the Matsun is largely counter-balanced by the sentimental fondness for the $230,000,000 already spent by America.

Big Issue Is Fortifications
The big issue is slowly emerging, however. It is not the quarrel over ratios of existing strength but fortifications and collateral matters on which the Japanese are not eager to agree at once. The attitude of the conference does not indicate hopelessness but confidence that the differences which have appeared will soon be resolved.

THEATRICAL
Hobbs King At Sun
Jeff Davis known as King of Hobbes is the star attraction at the Sun theatre tonight and tomorrow for four shows. Yesterday afternoon and evening Davis interested the audiences by his many world-wide experiences. He is showing several reels of pictures of his travels and also lectures and explains the pictures as they unfold part of his life's story on the screen. Everywhere he goes Davis is greeted by big crowds, many having read of him and being glad of the opportunity to hear and see him. A special school children's matinee will be given at 10:30 tomorrow morning for ten cents. Davis will give a special show for the ladies. He is appearing in addition to the Metropolitan Revue Musical Comedy company which is here for two more days. Tonight is amateur night, when the audience will be the judge of who is to receive the amateur's prize money. No advance in prices.

The United States has spent $230,000,000 already on ships in the process of building and the American delegation has told the Japanese that the public opinion of this country would not countenance the loss of such a large sum of money unless Japan was willing also to scrap everything she was building. In other words the sentimental fondness of the Japanese for the Matsun is largely counter-balanced by the sentimental fondness for the $230,000,000 already spent by America.

Real Rest Depends Largely Upon the Depth of Your Sleep

A warning to "light" or "poor" sleepers

The deeper and sounder you sleep the better you feel. Five hours sound refreshing sleep does you more actual good than ten hours restless, disturbed sleep.

This is because the final conversion of food into vital tissue and nerve cells goes on more rapidly when the physical and mental forces are at rest.

You can't get sound, refreshing sleep if your nerves are agitated with tea or coffee. Both these drinks contain caffeine, which is sometimes very irritating to the brain and nervous system.

If you want to know the joy, vigor and stamina that comes to the person who gets sound, healthful sleep, why not stop taking tea or coffee for a while, and drink delicious, invigorating Postum instead.

Thousands of people everywhere have found that this was the only thing they needed in order to bring about these very happy results.

Order Postum from your grocer today. Drink this delightful cereal beverage of coffee-like flavor, for a week. Perhaps, like thousands of others, you'll never be willing to go back to tea or coffee.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

Pretty Woman Chosen For a Homely Role

The charge has often been made that beauty is the only thing wanted in feminine screen stars. To show the world that brains also count, Lois Wilson, playing the title role in her latest Paramount picture, "Miss Lulu Bett," deliberately made herself up as homely as possible, showing that art is put before beauty even in the films, if occasion demands.

He Didn't Like It
A little three-year-old, who had been summing up on a farm, fell into an old well where the water was only six inches deep and remained there for some time before he was discovered. When he was rescued his pent-up indignation knew no bounds: "You fink I kin tay in a well without nuffin to eat, like a frog?" he scolded. "I was no better fadder'n mudder'n you, I des I'd go without children."

Literally.
"Take a double handful of interest in everything. That is the best recipe for happiness," says a noted statesman. Now we know why money lenders are such a cheery crowd!—Change.

Chas. Weber

614 Chillicothe Street

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(By the Associated Press)—American naval opinion finds it difficult to reconcile Japanese claims to a higher fleet ratio than the American 5-5-3 proposal on the basis of Japan's needs for her own defense, when the additional tonnage sought by Japan is all in offensive, no defensive ships.

So far, discussion has been largely confined to capital ships, battleships and battle cruisers, regarded in all navies as purely offensive weapons. This is true particularly of the cruisers with long cruising radius to permit operations far from home waters. The Japanese experts brought up in discussions among the experts, however, the question of additional airplane carriers for Japan. It has been indicated in Japanese circles that Japan desires equal tonnage with Great Britain and the United States in carriers.

It is asserted by American officers that airplanes themselves might be classed as defensive weapons as long as no means was provided to carry them to distant waters. But when airplane carriers are provided, the air craft became potential weapons of offense for bombardment of enemy cities and fortifications.

Another aspect of the airplane carrier problem lies in the American policy providing for division of her fleet for operations in two far separated sections, the Atlantic and Pacific, even if American obligations as to the Philippines are disregarded in the calculations. That makes necessary, American officers argue, airplane carriers for use with each fleet. Great Britain, it is asserted, has even wider responsibilities in all the seven seas. Britain's national life depends on keeping the seas open to her trade ships and her equipment in aircraft and carriers must be equal to that of any other power.

Japan, in the American view, is not similarly situated. Her navy operates practically for defensive purposes, as a single unit.

The sea of Japan, which lies between Japan and Korea, is susceptible of such defense that it would be almost impossible of access by an enemy fleet in war time. Over it lies a road to Korea, held by Japan, and to Manchuria, held by Japan, under Japanese influence, that makes the raw materials and other resources of those countries available to Japan without fear of interruption in war times, American naval opinion holds.

For these reasons it is regarded as certain that the American conference delegation will not be disposed to accept the Japanese proposal of equal tonnage in airplane carriers for Japan in the replacement agreement. The question has not been reported as yet for debate.

She's a Variable Quantity.
A woman is sometimes fugitive, irrational, indeterminate, illogical and contradictory. A great deal of forbearance ought to be shown her, and a good deal of prudence exercised with regard to her, for she may bring about innumerable evils without knowing it. Capable of all kinds of devotion, and all kinds of treason, "monster incomprehensible," raised to the second power, she is at once the delight and the terror of man.—Amiel.

Foreign Leases Delicate Question At Arms Meet

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The delicate question of foreign leases in China was listed to come before the Far Eastern committee at today's session, but discussion of foreign troop withdrawals forced discussion of the question over until tomorrow. The question is generally regarded as the most difficult of all the Chinese questions yet touched upon and offers what are regarded as well high insurmountable obstacles to a settlement unless Japan will surrender Dairei.

The only other leases of a similar sort are those of Great Britain to Wei-Hai-Wei opposite to Port Arthur, and of France to Kwang-Chow in southern China opposite the islands of Hainan and along the line of communications to the French colony of Indo-China.

Tonight Chamber of Commerce members will get some insight into the workings of the Public Utilities Commission of the state when Attorney G. C. Maxwell speaks at the December 2, C. of C. luncheon at All Saints parish house at six o'clock.

Attorney Maxwell was secretary of the Commission for several years and therefore knows both sides of the utility question. Attorney Maxwell tells his story in a brief, instructive and interesting manner and all who hear him will be glad that they did not miss the opportunity to hear him.

The women of All Saints church will serve an oyster supper tonight.

Fred B. Winter will be chairman of the meeting and Kalb's orchestra will furnish music during the supper.

Women of West Australia have had the right to vote in municipal elections since 1871.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 2.—Anti-Saloon League workers in session here today adopted a program for law enforcement sponsoring the formation of state and county organizations which will be voluntary auxiliaries in aiding prohibition enforcement officers to enforce the dry law throughout the country.

The organizations to co-operate with the state anti-saloon leagues would function, according to the program, in part as follows:

To nominate, elect and secure the appointment of officers to enforce law who not only advocate the enforcement of law, but believe in the law itself.

When additional help is needed in the way of legal counsel of the co-operation of state or federal officers, to appeal to the state anti-saloon league office.

To report evidence of law violations to the county committee and to the local officers whose duty it is to enforce the law.

Arrange for some representatives of the organization to attend court trials in important law enforcement cases, "to offset the bad influence of the wet crowd who hang around court rooms in some places."

Wait on the prosecuting attorney or the county judge for a conference as to the best methods of co-operation.

Encourage discussion of law enforcement in young people's societies, schools, etc.

Inform citizenship and welfare committees in clubs about law enforcement.

Call law enforcement headquarters at least weekly to see what is needed. Protest in a dignified manner to a judge or other officer who gives "ridiculously low fines or fails in doing his duty and makes law enforcement a farce."

Stomach Upset,
Gas, Gas, Gas
—"Diapepsin"

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends indigestion, heartburn in five minutes. Sour, gassy, upset stomach, acidity, dyspepsia; when the food you eat ferments into gases and stubborn lumps; your head aches and you feel sick and miserable, that's when you realize the quick magic of Pape's Diapepsin. If your stomach is in a continuous revolt—if you can't get it regulated—try Pape's Diapepsin. It's so needless to have a bad stomach! Make your next meal a favorite food meal, then take a little Diapepsin. There will not be any distress—out without fear. It's because Pape's Diapepsin "really does" regulate your stomach, out-of-control stomachs that gives it its millions of sales annually. Get a large sixty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. It is the most efficient antacid known. It is scientific, harmless, and belongs in every home—Advertisement.

Churches' Glory.
Men say their church pinnacles point to heaven. Why, so does every tree that buds and every bird that sings. Men say their aisles are good for worship. Why, so is every mountain glen and rough sea shore. But this the churches have of distinct and indisputable glory—that their mighty walls were never raised and never shall be but by men who love and aid each other in their weakness.—John Ruskin.

Success Requisites.

To be a real go-getter you must attempt and succeed in a great many things common folks dodge. To be able to see values where others see loss brings riches and power. Folks call it luck. It's merely the asset of the go-getter. The more you do the more you can do. Success oils the machinery and tempers the tools that develop power. It's marshalling resources and turning them to account that marks you an outstanding figure.—Exchange.

Green Steals Light.

Greens are the greatest thieves of light. A dark green will absorb 85 per cent of the light, a dark brown perhaps 70 per cent, the light blue 25 per cent, while the soft, delicate tints will absorb only about 10 per cent. Pure white absorbs only 15 per cent of the light thrown upon it.

The Big Eating Nations.

Among modern nations the greatest eaters are the Germans, English, French and the Americans, according to one authority. The diet of the Spaniards and the Italians is notably less substantial than that of the English and Germans. The Americans, this authority holds, are on the average the greatest eaters in the world. Carlyle said to Emerson: "The best thing I know of that country is, that in it a man can have meat for his labor."

Egyptian Architecture.

In the furniture world the massive and stability of the Egyptian furniture as dug from out century-old ruins is as well known as the time-defying pyramids and sphinx are to every school child. Art critics are quite agreed that the old Greco-Roman houses were the most perfect in line, harmony and utility of any ancient dwellings. But they are equally agreed that the Egyptian architecture runs a close second.

Naming of Natal.

The British colony of Natal is so named, because the territory was first discovered on Christmas day—the natal or birthday of our Savior—in the year 1497. The discoverer was Vasco da Gama, the Portuguese navigator, who had been dispatched by Manuel, King of Portugal, to discover a road to India, via the Cape of Good Hope. It was just after the finding of the New world had enriched Spain, and all the maritime nations were eagerly anxious to make similar discoveries.

America Has Decided To Join Hands With Other Powers To Stabilize Exchange

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1921, Portsmouth Daily Times)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—American has decided to join hands with the other powers of the world in an effort to stabilize international exchange. The United States government has accepted the invitation of the Allied governments to be represented at a conference to be held abroad in the near future at which the whole question of exchange will be examined.

This is the most important step in the direction of financial readjustment which has been taken since the armistice. If successful, the movement will have a far-reaching effect upon the revival of business in America, and particularly in the restoration of markets for the sale of American agricultural and manufactured products.

Trying To Interest America

For a long time there has been a persistent effort on the part of European countries to elicit America's interest in an international financial conference. There has even been a suggestion that the question of the war debts of the Allies might be discussed at the armistice conference at Washington, but this idea has been abandoned. The movement to reconstruct the world's finances will be a slow and evolutionary one and will not be confined to a single conference but to a series of meetings which may take the better part of a year. The whole thing is the outgrowth of the recommendations made at the last international conference at Brussels, but it now has the moral support of the United States government which means that more results will be accomplished.

Just who the American representatives will be is not known, but undoubtedly some banker or bankers of prominence. These men will be in the nature of observers and will not be authorized to conclude any agreements binding the United States but will explore the whole field and bring back to this country recommendations which might be laid before American bankers in a series of conferences such as President Harding held at the White House last spring. When there is agreement among American bankers as to the proper course to be pursued, there probably will be a final conference in Washington at which the whole fiscal situation of the world will be reviewed and definite plans laid for financing the trade of the globe.

U. S. Part Not Passive

America's part in the deliberations will hardly be passive even though her delegates will not have the power to commit this country to any definite plan of action. The Harding administration intends to throw the full weight of its influence on the side of the financial reconstruction. This has been urged for many months by leading bankers as well as by such influential organizations as the United States Chamber of Commerce. So vital has the question of international finance become that men like Frank Vanderlip and James Simpson of Marshall Field and Company, who have just returned from Europe are insisting that chaos will follow if America does not save the financial situation abroad.

Along this line cablegrams from Paris today tell of the decision of the Reparations Commission to appoint a committee of bankers and experts to international exchange to devise means for preventing a shock to exchange rates whenever Germany pays, or fails to pay her regular reparations payments. Although the United States does not receive any reparations money, nevertheless this country is deeply interested in international exchange and therefore America will have her observers at the conference to be held in Paris next month which is described in the Paris press dispatches.

Policy Of Co-operation

In other words, it may be taken for granted that the Harding administration has embarked upon a policy of co-operation with other governments not merely for the reduction of armament, burdens and the settlement of such political matters and disturb the peace of the Far East, but financial questions which have been hanging in the air ever since the war ended and which admittedly have done more to disturb business conditions everywhere than any other single factor. The drop in exchange has prevented America from selling her goods abroad. All sorts of artificial measures to relieve exchange have been suggested, but the tendency now is to avoid experimental measures and go to the root of the trouble. The theory upon which the next conference will proceed, it is suggested by persons familiar with the administration view, is best expressed in the recommendations of the Brussels conference itself, which said:

To Take Time To Do It

"The conference recognizes that any general improvement in the situation requires a considerable period of time, and that in present circumstances it is not possible for certain countries to restore their economic activity without assistance from abroad. This assistance is required for periods which exceed the normal term of commercial operations.

"This assistance, however, can only be effectively accorded to countries which are prepared to co-operate with one another in the restoration of economic life and to make every effort to bring about within their own frontiers the sincere collaboration of all groups of citizens and to secure liberty to produce their full results.

"The conference does not believe that apart from the particular decisions dictated by the national interests or by considerations of humanity, credits should be accorded directly by governments.

"The conference makes the following recommendations: An international organization should be formed and placed at the disposal of states desiring to have resort to credit for the purpose of paying for their essential imports. These states would then give notice of the assets they are prepared to pledge as security for the sake of obtaining these credits and would come to an understanding with the international organization as to the conditions under which these assets would be administered. The bonds issued against this guarantee would be used as collateral for credits intended to cover the cost of commodities."

The United States, of course, being a creditor nation does not have to guarantee the assets of its own business men, but is deeply interested in seeing some guarantee made by the governments of other countries with which American exporters do business. Obviously the extension of credit by American merchant to a business man in Austria would be a risky thing, but if the government of Austria issues a guarantee which in turn is protected by all the available assets of Austria, the risk to the American business man would be minimized. This plan has been approved in Great Britain and France, but without the membership of the United States the whole financial situation has been held in abeyance. Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, has been active in urging a solution, and has brought forward a plan for an international bank through which the whole world could clear its business.

The task is stupendous and the remedy will not be found at once. Indubitably, the Harding administration is waiting patiently for the Senate to pass the funding bill which has already passed the House. This would give to a commission appointed by the President power to negotiate with foreign governments with respect to payments of principal and interest in war debts. The important step, however, of consulting with the other governments of the world, including in all probability Germany, has been taken. It is an epoch-making event in the era of reconstruction.

Trains on Great Western railway go as high as 75 miles an hour at certain points on the line.

Entirely Willing to Oblige. Mrs. Smith engaged a new housemaid and was annoyed to find that the girl persisted in addressing her as "Mrs. Smith." She remonstrated and suggested that she should address her in the same way as the other maids did. "Well," said the girl, thoughtfully, "I can't call you ma'am or m'm; I always call mother that. But I don't mind calling you auntie if you like."

Some people hold to the hope that their eyes, if abnormal, will some time improve. There is no justification for their belief in the practice of Optometry. And the reason it should not be entertained is that much harm is likely to be done to the eyes by the neglect imposed upon them. An abnormal eye never becomes normal, though the abnormalities can be overcome or reduced greatly by the services of an Optometrist. We are waiting to help you to eye comfort.

Dear Dolly—Will you please give me the name of the superintendent of the Norfolk & Western railroad and his address.

TIMES READER
Mr. Harry C. Weller is superintendent of the N. & W. Terminals, East Portsmouth.

Dear Dolly—As you seem to be the only one who knows anything about the soldiers' bonus, I wish you would tell me when they will start to pay it. ONE WHO WAS OVER THERE
Robert Roberts, state director of compensation for war veterans announced a few days ago that payments could not begin before February, and that it would be two years before all claims could be settled.

Dear Dolly—How many newspapers are there published in Ironton and are they? Don't mention the little 2 by four sheet which I think is called the Ironton News as it's too out to mention. We want the real newspapers. A TIMES READER
The Evening Register and the Morning Irontonian.

Dear Dolly—I am a young married woman of 19 and we always had a Christmas tree at our house before I was married and I want one this year too. Dolly, my husband thinks because we have no children that it is foolish to have a tree, and I don't think it seems like Christmas without one. I don't care for a big one, but I do want a little one. Don't you think I should have it? YOUNG WIFE

Yes, I think you should have a tree since it means so much to you, and so little to him. They don't cost very much, and if you buy trimmings this year you will always have them, and can add a few extra ornaments from year to year. I wouldn't say any more about it but when Xmas eve rolls around, I would have my tree all dolled up.

Chilwaukee, Ky.—Dear Dolly—I have been going with a girl for five years and I love her but she seems to think that I do not care for her. Now, Dolly, I want to prove to her that I love her, so please tell me what to do?

Since you have been going with her for five years it is high time you would do something. If she will have you.

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruit" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation, sour bile and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.—Advertisement.

Dear Miss Wise—I was boarding in this city and working at the steel plant in 1917, but my home was in Kentucky. I am living in Kentucky now, but I want to know if I will get the soldiers' bonus in Ohio. Where are the Red Cross headquarters located?

EX-SOLDIER
You will not get the bonus if you gave Kentucky as your home state when you enlisted in the army. The Red Cross headquarters are located in the First National Bank building, corner Gallia and Chillicothe streets—our only skyscraper.

Dear Dolly—I have been married for a year, and my husband and I live with his people. His mother did not want him to marry me as she had another girl picked out for him and when he did not marry her she was awfully disappointed. She talks about this other girl all the time. Do you really think my husband loves me or the other girl?

IN DOUBT
He probably loves you. If he had wanted the other girl he would have married her. If I were you I would get out of that house and get a home of my own. His mother may have been disappointed, but since he married you it is his duty to try to make you happy or to keep away from you altogether.

Dear Miss Wise—I would like to know the address of Hinchey & Dugan, railroad contractors, who did the grade work on the C. & O. Northern at Scottdale.

Does any reader know the present address of this firm?

BLE EYES—There are several women in the city who make hair switches. The local department stores also take orders to make them. I doubt if you can color a dark switch light. However you might bleach it with peroxide.

DISAPPOINTED WIFE—You should have gotten acquainted with your husband before you married him. I never would run the risk of trying to do it afterwards. Some women are not interested enough in their husband's business to ask anything about it. If I were choosing a man I would want to know so much about himself and his business that there would be nothing to find out after I married him. If he admires an artificial complexion, you can buy a year's supply for ten, twenty-five or fifty cents, depending on the quality wanted.

Bad Risk in Windows. Nearly every business contributor bits of specialized knowledge to the common fund. It will strike many persons as a curious piece of information that plate glass insurance companies class windows with black lettering on them as "extra hazardous" risks. The explanation given is that a black surface absorbs the sun's rays. By this means, it is stated, an unequal expansion is produced throughout the plate; and under the influence of a sudden gust of cold or any other quick change of temperature a strain is developed which may break the glass.

CONFESIONS OF A MOVIE STAR
Chapter XLI—Hutcherson Takes Me Into His Confidence

CISSY SHELDON was not the only man made sentimental by the scenery and the moonlight. Hutcherson Coleridge lost his poise, but in spite of the style of his confession, I didn't suspect how silly he was at the time. Sometimes I wonder if I ever will grow up.

Mrs. Nundy was my chaperon but she developed a wretched toothache after one night in the damp bedroom of the country hotel. There wasn't a dentist in the place who she could trust, so she went to bed to stay until the ache should stop, or the company should return to town.

I didn't want Cissy near me after the "dare" which I had thwarted with a threat to whistle for help. Dick didn't care to come near me, unless we were in the crowd. And so I was truly glad to have Hutcherson Coleridge assume the role of cavalier.

Coleridge was so sure. He was a married man and the father of two beautiful baby girls. We often used them on a set and he was awfully proud of them. I had supposed that he was just as proud of his wife, for she was a charming little thing, and wholly devoted to him, and her home and family. It didn't matter, and one which tied her up as closely as acting tied her husband.

All this I knew and on account of it, I considered Hutcherson Coleridge a home a model one, and myself a model husband.

the stuffy dining room of the country hotel, Coleridge and I wandered off for a walk.

We talked shop and I enjoyed the conversation. Coleridge is an English actor, long in the movies. Knowing what I did of his home and his wife, I was amazed to hear the man, who is twenty years older than I, take me into his confidence. His wife was completely absorbed in her children, he complained.

I thought that perfectly lovely and I said so, thinking Coleridge would like to hear the little woman praised. Instead, he sighed deeply and shook his head sadly. He helped me across a stony footpath to a nearer and better view of the silver threads of water which seemed to hang before us rather than to fall.

After we were seated on a fallen tree trunk, he forgot to take his hand from mine. I wondered why he was so absent minded. I had to withdraw my fingers from his clasp.

Then he came to and talked. His wife had no time to spare for him. All she wanted was a neat ticket. She was an intellectual woman, he must say that for her. But she was cold. She didn't understand him.

"Oh, I'm so—so sorry!" I stammered. "May—you're different?" Coleridge exclaimed suddenly. "You understand," he murmured softly. "You take a man's mind from his troubles. You'd be tender when he needed you."

"Oh, maybe I wouldn't!" I said in my most commonplace tone as I jumped from the log. "I guess I'm pretty much like other girls! Come along! I'll beat you back to the hotel!" I wanted to get away from him. (To be continued.) (Copyright, 1921, NEA Service)

May Permit Building Of Capital Ships

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 2.—(By the Associated Press)—An impression is growing in American naval circles that it may prove expedient to modify the ten year naval holiday proposal of the American plan sufficiently to permit building of capital ships to continue during the holiday on a very restricted basis. There is evidence that both the British and Japanese feel the necessity of such a modification, it is said, and American officers to some extent share that view.

The British representatives suggested a "snap a year" program in an informal way, but later it was stated they had no intention of proposing that each nation should lay down a new capital ship each year. It has occurred to some American naval officers that a more logical modification would be to provide that each nation should have one capital ship under construction throughout the ten year period. This would mean for Great Britain, the United States and Japan the production of three new capital ships each during the holiday to take the places of ships which would pass that time. Each of the retained fleets under the American plan includes vessels which will become twenty years old before the end of the naval holiday.

To Discuss Future Tax Legislation

COLUMBUS, O., December 2.—Members of the joint legislative committee called for a meeting this afternoon to discuss future taxation legislation on short order, they said. They are here at the call of Senator F. E. Whittemore, of Akron, and Representative Leonard J. Graham, of New Concord, chairman of the respective wings of the committee, in response to resolutions adopted by the regular taxation committee last August.

Intimating that the special joint committee will not find it easy to do the work assigned to it, Senator Whittemore said today "if we couldn't get together in four months during the regular session, I don't see how we can get somewhere now in a day."

Explaining Earth's Attraction.
All bodies fall to the ground in consequence of the power of the earth's attraction on each of its particles; everything else being equal or the same, all bodies, great and small, light and heavy, ought to fall with equal rapidity. The fact that a stone falls more rapidly than a feather is due solely to the unequal resistance opposed by the air to the descent of these bodies. In a vacuum all bodies fall with equal rapidity.

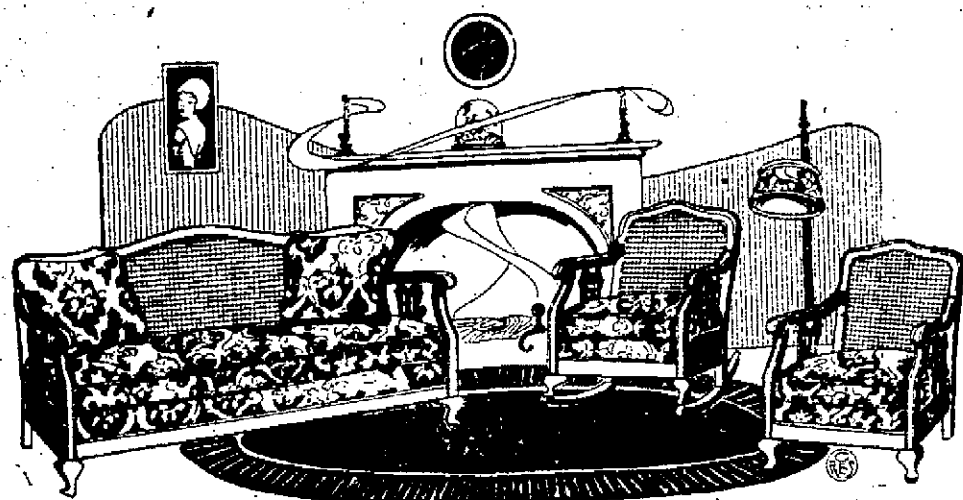

The Land of Blades.
Japan is called "the land of blades" by its own people, some of the older scholars having declared that the first sword was invented by the same god who invented poetry. A maker of swords in Japan was ever highly honored among his fellow mechanics. An unusually skillful and artistic smith sometimes was recipient of high military rank, a yearly pension, or was even raised to the lordship of the province in which he dwelt.

Manhood's First Moment.
An infant attains his majority on the first moment of the day before his twentieth birthday. Thus, an infant born on October 31, 1900, a couple of minutes before twelve o'clock of the night of that day, would attain his majority on the first moment of October 30, 1921, although it will be forty-eight hours, less two minutes, before he will have lived for twenty-one years.

Inventor of the Locomotive.
George Stephenson, the renowned English engineer who invented the locomotive, never saw the inside of a university. He started his career as assistant fireman in the colliery where his father was employed, and it was due to self-teaching and untiring application to this trade that he managed to produce in 1814 the first real "traveling engine." This so outclassed the crude models of others who had also tackled the problem that Stephenson will be remembered as the man who made modern railroading possible.

Reserve Board To Send Advisor To Bankers' Meet

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 1. (By the Associated Press)—Decision has been reached by the federal reserve board to send an advisor to the forthcoming conference of foreign bankers called by the reparations commission to discuss exchange stabilization, it was said officially today at the treasury.

The board, officials said, has signified its willingness to be represented at the conference, which will consider specific methods of preventing sudden exchange fluctuations resulting from the January payment of the German indemnity. The date and place of the meeting of the conference has not been communicated to American officials who regard the whole matter as yet to be still in the form of a proposal. Treasury officials asserted it was probable the American representative at the conference would present suggestions for avoiding disturbance of exchange rates, but as yet definite methods have not been disclosed, although very much the same ideas were believed to be held by the foreign banks of issue.

One method understood to be under consideration would be a proposal to avoid the payment of the indemnity in the money of any one country. Instead of requiring the reparations payment to be made in American dollars, as in the case of the last installment, it was believed that a cushion might be provided against a sudden exchange drop by spreading a portion of the payment over into Dutch or some other exchange. It was not known yet, officials said, whether the next reparations payment would be in American dollars, as it might be called for in pounds sterling or the French francs, but the effect on the exchange of any one country whose money was used for indemnity purposes would be the same.

The proposed conference, it was believed, would devote its attention primarily to some method by which the January reparations payment might be made with the least disturbance to the exchange values of the money of any of the various nations.

Treasury officials did not intimate who the reserve board's advisor might be, but it has been considered probable that Roland T. Hayden, the American observer at meetings of the reparations commission, might be designated, possibly with the assistance of an agent on the board.

Nuts Fit Holes in Trees.

While in California last winter the writer saw several oak tree trunks pitted as if by snailshells. The holes are made by woodpeckers, and in every hole is an acorn placed there by squirrels. The nuts are so firmly imbedded that it is impossible to remove them with the fingers.

The Movies

Bert Lytell, the Popular Metro Star, comes to The Eastland Theatre tonight for two days in his new picture, "The Man Who." The Romance of a Barefooted, Barefooted Bid for Fame—Also Showing Jimmie Aubrey in his latest Bonspiel of Joy, "The Applicant."—Don't forget our Matinees Daily—Prices, Adults 20 and Children 10 Cents—Nights, 15 and 30 cents.

"The Man Who," by Lloyd Osborne, which will be remembered by Saturday Evening Post readers as one of the most delightful stories of many seasons, has been made into a motion picture by Arthur Zelig and will be presented at the Eastland Theatre for two days beginning tonight.

It is a Maxwell Karger production for Metro, starring Bert Lytell in the role of Reddy Mills, the New York bank clerk who tried to become the Man Who Broke the Shoe Trust.

Reddy's ambition to become a Man Who is inspired by his desire to win the favor of Helen Jessop, daughter of an old New York family, who has no use for men who were just "nice and ordinary." So Reddy decides to go about faultlessly dressed, except that his feet are always bare as a protest against the high price of shoes. Going barefoot into exclusive social circles produces amusing complications and inspires a national barefoot campaign. Bert Lytell's supporting company includes Lucy Cotton, as Helen Jessop; Virginia Valli, as Mary Turner, the shoe magnate's daughter who loves Reddy in spite of everything; Frank Currier, as St. John Jessop, the old New York aristocrat; and Tammany Young, Fred Warren, Clarence J. Elmer, William Roselle, Mary Louise Benton and Frank Strayer in the other roles.

Did Fine Work For Akron Man He Declares

"I never had such an appetite in my life as I have now, and I haven't a ache or a pain of any kind left," said E. L. Corwin, 380 East Thornton St., Akron, O., in relating his experience with Tanlac.

"Some months ago I lost my appetite and it actually made me sick to look at anything to eat. I lost strength right along and finally got so weak I could hardly pick up a hammer. My kidneys bothered me a good deal, too, and it was torture for me to stoop over and straighten up again. Tanlac certainly has done fine work for me. I have more life and energy than in years and feel just fine all the time. Anybody who is run down like I was is foolish not to give Tanlac a trial."

Tanlac is sold in Portsmouth by the Fisher & Stetson Pharmacy and by leading druggists everywhere.

Relieving The Blackness

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—She rather "in luck of the whole fashion world" loves it, and she's making the most of it, but somewhere in the whitest heart of nobody is a longing for something colorful, oh, so colorful! So vivid! Something to give wild accent to the darkness of her gown. And so she avoided the fascinating trick of taking the skirts of her dance gowns.

Jagged, scalloped lines of velvet sometimes reveal the brightest colors imaginable—most of them in crisp taffeta.

The beauty is a soft, crushed thing, only a suggested line and curves, gradually graceful.

The Three Requisites

The three requisites for a place to keep such treasures are 1. Safety; 2. Privacy; and 3. Accessibility. You want your important papers where they cannot be stolen, where they cannot be mislaid, and where no one but yourself can get at them. John Barleycorn

"Sir John Barleycorn" is a personification of malt liquor whether in the form of ale or beer. The expression is common in both England and Scotland. The name is the subject of an old ballad ascribed to Robert Burns, the Scotch poet, although all he did was to alter, slightly, parts of it.

That the time is now at hand when they can qualify for everlasting life right here on earth. He holds that the message of the hour now is "Millions Now Living Will Never Die." And that this is not a fanatical religious view. Nor is it a myth. But that it is a Scriptural Reality and he says he can prove it to reasonable minds, by the evidence that the Bible holds.

Why A Bachelor? Balfour Tells

BY RUTH AGNES ABELING

(Sketches by Frank Wing)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The

to the arm conference, the most celebrated bachelor in the British empire, was speaking.

And Balfour was speaking of matrimony considered as a personal possibility.

He shook his head negatively. Pressed his lips into a thin, rather determined line. There was the hint of a smile in the lines that spread fan-like from his kindly eyes. Then:

"I proposed to have a career of my own."

This from England's most famous and probably wealthiest bachelor.

Balfour, 55-year-old diplomat, a feminist. Fully 40 years before woman first evolved the theory that husbands, frying pans, nursing bottles and dust cloths were useless impediments. Balfour decided that the swish of silken petticoats would strike discord in the grand symphony of power.

With the influence of wealth to aid him, young Arthur Balfour began to brush the coat-tails of fame—brushing with his whole heart in his hand.

Might've Been Nice

"Matrimony? It might have been a nice thing." As if only a remote consideration.

"It would make a very great difference—possibly a very sweet cluster of things about the house." His hand, ringless and strong looking, took in the room with a careful scrutiny.

A man's room, man secretary, man servants and a solitary sauce. A sense of strength, dominion, unchallenged.

But not really a forbidding man, merely a social old gentleman with a voice inclined to rumble in a wrinkly throat given freedom by a loose, low collar, hung with a not too carefully tied black tie.

Balfour's home in London is said to be one of the finest. His Wiltshire estate is picturesquely beautiful—such a place for women and children.

But says the sturdy Scot, the powerful English statesman:

"I proposed to have a career of my own."

Steals Coal; Sent To Reformatory

Caught in the crusade being made in recent weeks by railroad officers against coal thieves, John Freyman, of near Maysville, drew the stiff sentence of two years in the Kentucky intermediate penitentiary at Brooksville on his conviction.

Freeman was caught in the act of removing about two bushels of "black diamonds" from a railroad car in a wheelbarrow. Two other companies await trial for the same offense.

Phrase First Used by Seward

"The Higher Law" was an expression first used by the Hon. William H. Seward (1801-1872). In his speech in the United States senate on March 11, 1850, on the question of admitting California into the Union. As employed by him on that occasion, the phrase denoted a law higher than the Constitution, viz., a law of God.—Exchange.

King of England has held property in London as the Duke of Lancaster since 1200.

The most enthusiastic laxative to physically tone bowels when you have headache, biliousness, indigestion, colds, dizziness, sour stomach, is candy-like Cascarets. One or two tonight will empty your bowels completely by morning and you will feel splendid. "They work while you sleep." Cascarets never stir you up or gripe like salts, pills, Calomel, or Oil and they cost only ten cents a box. Children love Cascarets too. —Advertisement—

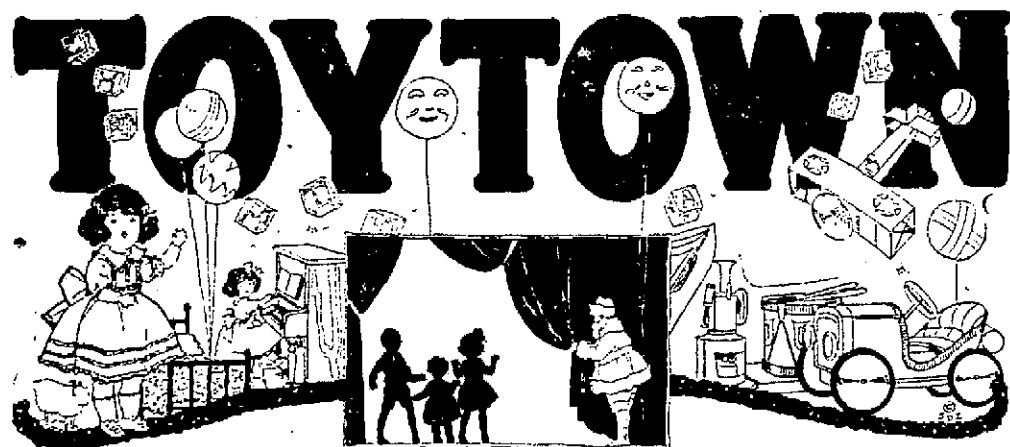

Dan Cupid Is Loafing On Job

There was a sharp decrease in the number of marriage licenses issued at the local probate office in November, when 51 couples obtained the necessary document to wed as compared to sixty-six granted during the same month in 1920.

The falling off noted in Cupid's activities is attributed by officials to the present industrial depression.

This Tiger's A Bear!

Don't Call The Police!

Ralph Charles Gilroy, said just that way, sounds like a soft name, but Gilroy is one of the best defensive backs that ever wore the moleskin. And he was a bear, as the saying is, on the Princeton offense against Harvard and Yale. Hence, he will be captain of the Princeton Tigers next year.

Spear It, My Lord, Spear It!

The expression on Lord Northcliffe's face seems to say, "It beats me, I don't see how they do it." But a chopstick feels as much at home in the hand of J. N. Pennington (right), editor of the Far Eastern Review, as an old-fashioned fork. This was at a dinner at the Maple Club, Tokio.

At Ex-Kaisers Home

After a long estrangement the exiled "Willie" former crown prince of Germany, and his wife were reunited at a visit to the ex-kaiser's residence in Doorn, Holland. They are shown leaving Doorn for Wieringen, "Willie's" home, where the family spent eight days together before the wife and children returned to Germany.

Negotiations Over Naval Program Proceeding Satisfactorily For U. S.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Negotiations over the naval program, according to the feeling in American arms conference circles today, are proceeding satisfactorily.

The four American delegates, meeting today, went over the situation as it stands. Afterward it was said that the Americans were well satisfied with the terms that the naval discussions were taking and were hopeful that the American limitation program would be received favorably. A more definite

Makes Significant Statement Regarding His Opinion of Medicine, But He Found That Nervousness Was Different When It Gave Desired Results

"I have always been prejudiced against medicine, but I am now of different opinion, for Nervousness is more than a medicine. It's a miracle," said Dr. W. Whitmer, 210 Hill St., Xenia, Ohio. And he goes on, "I was completely run down and terribly nervous and I couldn't sleep. I would toss and turn most of the night. I had gas on my stomach and I believed quite some time after eating. I have taken one bottle of Nerv-North and been helped marvelously. I have not enjoyed sleep in six months as I do now. I cannot recommend it too highly, for I feel like a different man."

Dr. Whitmer is one of Xenia's highly respected citizens and held the office of

Much Damage From Riots In Vienna

VIENNA, Dec. 2.—The inner city of Vienna today looked as though it had been struck by a tornado as the result of yesterday's widespread rioting, the worst since the downfall of the monarchy. All the leading hotels and restaurants and many of the shops dealing in luxuries were wrecked, and the streets are cluttered with debris.

No deaths have been reported, but a police official said that many have been injured by the mobs in their orgy of plunder and destruction. The police stood idly by while the mobs worked their will, some even expressing sympathy with the rioters. The trouble started in a demonstration before the parliament building by strikers from a suburb. They sent to Chancellor Schoner demands for abolition of the stock exchange, confiscation of foreign securities and more effective food control. His answer they regarded as unsatisfactory, and the rioting began shortly afterward, spreading to all parts of city.

The empty stock exchange was stormed, the hotels partially wrecked and their guests robbed, insulted and beaten and well dressed pedestrians in the shopping districts were stripped of furs, jewels and money. Many Americans were among those attacked, although in one instance the display of the American flag saved Colonel Miller and his wife from molestation.

Agree To Pass Debt Fund Bill

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 2.—Passage of the allied debt refunding bill as the first work of the next session was understood today to have been definitely agreed upon by senate leaders at the request of President Harding. The president is understood to have favored this legislation and to have secured the agreement to this of Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, Republican leader, Senators Penrose, of Pennsylvania, and Watson, of Indiana, during discussion of the legislative plan for the next session at a dinner last night attended by these senators. The president, as a result of the agreement, was expected to omit all reference to the funding bill in his forthcoming message, in which it is believed he will deal principally with the two subjects of tariff and the merchant marine. While he is expected to urge revision and passage of the tariff at the earliest possible date, it was not revealed as a result of the dinner discussions to what extent he might suggest changes in the American valuation provision of the house bill, although he was reported as favoring some alterations. He has been strongly urged to ask its entire elimination.

Piles

Can't Be Cured From the Outside. External treatments seldom cure Piles. Nor do surgical operations. The cause is inside blood circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby. The bowel walls are weak, the parts cannot contract.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of this you must first get the circulation—send to—current through the stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't cure it.

Will Meet Other Roads Dividends

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Payment by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad of an extra fifteen per cent cash dividend, announced late yesterday, together with the regular five per cent semi-annual dividend, will almost meet the annual seven per cent dividend of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern, which jointly own 97 per cent of the Burlington's stock. The combined twenty per cent dividend of the C. B. & Q. will total $34,138,440 of which the Great Northern and Northern Pacific will receive $23,114,287.

The Great Northern needs $17,463,400 to pay the seven per cent on its $249,477,120 capital stock, and the Northern Pacific will need $17,400,000 to meet dividends on its $249,000,000 of stock. The dividends from the C. B. & Q. will fall short of this combined sum by only $1,709,113.

The Burlington is estimated to have a surplus fund of $160,000,000, from which the special dividend will be drawn. At the close of business last year the surplus was $214,129,501. The directors declared that Nerv-North at that time of 54 per cent, or approximately $80,000,000.

Youth Portrays Youth, And Stage Marvels!

BY ALICE ROHE

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—"If you could interview me ten years from now I might have some philosophy of the stage, of attainment, of youth."

A frank-eyed, lovely girl sat in her theater dressing room, putting on her make-up to go on in one of the heaviest parts ever entrusted to an actress yet 20, that of Ellen Carnody in "The Straw."

She was Margallo Gilmore, of whom the knowing are prone to talk about not only her great future but also her great present.

"Youth is rather a difficult thing for a young person to philosophize about, isn't it?" she said. "Indeed, I appreciate—oh, so much—all the kind things people say about my work and I do go to go before I really arrive." In a deep gratitude but I have 80 Margallo Gilmore doesn't think she knows it all. She is simple, direct, honest, eager to learn and study the art.

Cause of Confusion
Really, when we stop to think," she continued, "it is all a bit confusing. I am 18 years old today and I hear people say that only a woman of 40 could play it. I suppose that is why we are so few Julietts!"

I wonder if SOME day young actresses will have enough technique and guts to portray adequately the parts they look!

I am glad to live in this era," she said seriously. "Really, it is wonderful to be young and have the chance to have today. But you see I just don't philosophize. I suppose it's the same with youth as with anything else. One doesn't quite get the fullest appreciation while passing through an experience."

Just purely American elms were shown in 1801 by the wife of a Connecticut tobacco planter.

MARGALLO GILMORE

Women Who Grew Beards.
The women of the Imperial city of Rome once got possessed with a morbid ambition of raising beards, like their brothers and husbands. They used to shave their chins and smear unguents over them. It appears, however, that the men of Rome did not favor this feminine eccentricity, for Cicero mentions a law that was passed to prevent women raising beards.

Concentrate to Beat Worry.
"If people could only concentrate on their work as wholeheartedly as they concentrate on their worries success would be assured," said Mr. Eustace Miles in an address on "Concentration."—Pall Mall and Globe.

WHEN IS A TOWPATH NOT A TOWPATH? ASK FOSTER KRAKE

Foster Krake is now well aware of the fact that when the Towpath is covered with water it means the road leading from the Scioto bridge to the West Side is blocked. Wednesday evening he hopped into his machine at 11 p. m. and started out to work up an appetite for sleep by enjoying a refreshing ride. Across the big bridge his machine skipped along in its usual faultless manner. Off the bridge his car dashed and he saw visions of a nice little jaunt to the West Side and back. Apparently a perfectly smooth road was ahead of him. There was, but it was covered by water and Mr. Krake came to a full realization of this when his car began to career through the muddy water. He slapped on the emergency and applied the brakes. He didn't know but what at any moment his machine would slip off into deep water. The water, reaching his engine "killed" it and there he and his car were marooned in the backwater. He flashed an S. O. S. and it was picked up by a wandering auto driver, whose mission at the bridge was to take a peep at the great expanse of backwater. A tow line was soon attached to the Krake car and it was pulled back on dry land. Mr. Krake beat it back to the city with the intention of keeping his "harrowing experience" a secret. He did—just 24 hours.

"Jonkheer"—Not A Dish But A Dutch Title

By HARRY HUNT
WASHINGTON, December.—"Jonkheer," the Dutch equivalent of baron, is a title borne by two of the three chief Netherlands delegates.

Jonkheer van Karnebeek, head of the Dutch delegation, is not the stolid, slow-moving, bullet-headed type normally associated with "Dutch." He is dark, slender, carefully groomed and looks more the Parisian dandy than the product of the land of windmills and dykes.

No man at the conference table has had so extended an experience with peace confabulations as has Van Karnebeek.

His father was president of the Carnegie Foundation that built the Peace Table at The Hague and was vice president of the First Hague conference. The younger Van Karnebeek acted as secretary of that gathering in 1899 and was a delegate to the second Hague conference in 1907.

One of Holland's age-honored jokes may become modernized as a result of the Dutch delegation's visit.

This joke hangs on the famous Dutch family of Six, which is represented at the conference by Jonkheer O. Six, chief of the colonies section of the foreign ministry. It runs:

"England may have her Duke of Fife, but Holland has her Jonkheer Six."

As amended to meet modern motor humor, it is proposed the lines be:

"America has her Henry four, but Holland has her Jonkheer Six."

a pretty good "poker face."

But when Premier Briand was presenting the cause of France, picturing in graphic phrases the necessity of her maintaining ever-vigilant armed vigilance if she would preserve peace for her people, Hughes unconsciously marked his approval of the premier's points by distinct nods.

By contrast with Briand, Balfour appeared a stammering school-boy orator when he arose to answer the French spokesman.

Stutter he actually did at one time when he sought to express the unlikelihood of Great Britain or America failing to stand by France in case of future attack by Germany.

"How should it be possible," he said, "that sympathies once so warm should become so cold?"

A lot of folks consulted dictionaries after Secretary Hughes called it a "ple-nary" session.

IF HEADACHE IS DUE TO DEBILITY

Gude's Pepto-Mangan Restores the Blood to Natural Vigor

Many people who suffer from headaches never find the real cause. They do not know that a condition of debility, with blood thin and watery, is likely to cause ailments of any kind. Headaches are frequently brought on by a weakened condition. The body is more sensitive to pain and until the blood is healthy it is almost impossible to establish a cure for headaches. It is of the utmost importance to build up the blood first. People subject to headaches are usually in a more or less run down condition.

A course in Gude's Pepto-Mangan, taken in either liquid or tablet form, builds the blood, restores it to its natural, normal state, full of red corpuscles, the little cells which make blood red in color. Thousands of people are finding that headaches are due to nothing but a weakened condition caused by impure blood clogged with poisons. Buy Gude's Pepto-Mangan of your druggist. He has it in liquid and tablet form.—Advertisement.

"The Immortal Dreamer."
John Bunyan, the author of "Pilgrim's Progress," was called the "immortal dreamer."

But they found Webster agreed with Hughes.

A plenary session is a session attended by all entitled to be present and with power to take final and absolute action.

NEWS FROM NEARBY TOWNS

NEW BOSTON

Immanuel Baptist Notes
 Ben Scott Troop 15 of New Boston entertained their girl friends with an eggner supper in the basement of Immanuel Baptist church last evening. Of course there was a hearty response on the part of the girls. The evening was spent in carrying out a well planned series of games under the leadership of Scoutmaster F. L. Cooper and Senior Patrol Leader Carl Allbaugh. After supper speeches were made by Scoutmaster Cooper, Scout Committee Chairman John H. Candler, Assistant Scoutmaster Robert Allbaugh, and the Associate Teachers of the Guiding Star class, Mrs. Lawson Sloan and Mrs. Lewis Phillips and Mrs. Wm. Albrecht. The chef, Mr. Lou Perry, was too full for merriment, but all appreciated the excellent results of his labors.

Negress Fined

COURT HOUSE

Made Wards of the Court

Herbert Carr, Philip Jauder and Robert Corriell, Sciotoville youths, who were brought into Juvenile court Friday for breaking and entering the family theater at Sciotoville owned by J. S. Davis, admitted guilt, and Judge Gilliland made them wards of the court and released them with a warning.

Milford Hodge, 14 years old, son of Thompson Hodge, Eighth and Kendall avenues, was ordered committed to the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster by Judge Gilliland Friday when the lad was brought into Juvenile court for truancy. The lad was before the court on a similar complaint last May and at the time he was made a ward of the court and released on probation and when the court was advised that his conduct has since been bad he was promptly ordered to the corrective institution.

Held for Cincinnati Authorities

Louis Bonzo, Scioto Trail young man, was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriffs Frank Bennett and Wm. Rieker Thursday night and lodged in the county jail where he is held for the Cincinnati authorities on a warrant charging him with non-support. An officer is expected to arrive tonight to return the accused to the Queen City.

Husband Gets The Decree

On the grounds of neglect, Joseph Middleton, Scioto Trail farmer, was granted a decree by Judge Thomas in Common Pleas court Thursday, divorcing him from Lottie Middleton.

The case was heard on his cross petition and Middleton told the court that the wife refused to live in the country and that she deserted him at various times to come to Portsmouth to live. Attorney Theo. K. Funk appeared for the wife and Attorney E. G. Millar for the defendant.

Mandate Filed

The mandate of the Supreme court affirming the Scioto county Appellate court in the case of the State of Ohio against William Curley and E. R. Norman, was received and filed Friday by Clerk of Courts Edward Cunningham.

Norman and Curley were convicted by a jury in Common Pleas court more than a year ago of larceny in connection with the theft of sixty gallons of whiskey from the Jay Stevens home at Mt. Joy, and were sentenced to the penitentiary. Error proceedings were presented to the Court of Appeals in behalf of the convicted men and when that tribunal remanded the case for retrial, attorneys for the state took the case to the Supreme court for review. Norman and Curley who have since their trial been out under $1500 bond each are said to have fled the country. They were represented by Attorney A. R. Johnson, of Ironton.

Bouts Won The Decision

An approved entry was filed in the office of the clerk of courts Friday containing the decision of Judge Thomas in the injunction suit of Frederick Bouts against Addie Queen. The court made a finding in favor of the plaintiff and caused an order to be entered making the injunction permanent which gives Bouts possession of a small tract of land which has been in dispute. The land in question is situated in Bloom township, near Hales Creek, where the Bights are neighbor farmers.

Attorney Frank W. Moulton for Bouts and Sheppard Johnson for Queen.

Suit in Foreclosure

Suit to collect the sum of $3740.70 claimed to be due on a loan and foreclosure of a mortgage on real estate given to secure payment was filed in Common Pleas court Friday by The Citizens Savings and Loan Association against Edward R. Cooper and others. The premises involved is situated on Robinson avenue. The suit was filed through Attorney E. G. Millar.

Wife Charges Cruelty

Alleging cruelty and declaring that because of ill treatment she was compelled and did leave him two weeks ago, Jennie Miller, Gallia street, New Boston, seeks a divorce and alimony with custody of their minor son, aged 8 years, in a suit instituted in Common Pleas court Friday against Elmer Miller, New Boston steelworker, whom she married Sept. 23, 1911.

In her bill of complaint filed through Attorney Theo. K. Funk, the wife says that during the greater period of their married life that Miller has treated her with cold indifference, refused to associate with her or grant her any privileges, habitually called her bad names, accused her of a want of chastity, endeavored to make her leave him, slapped and abused her without cause, besides, carried on such a course of ill treatment toward her as to endanger her health, destroy her peace of mind and the very purposes of the matrimonial relations, she asserts. Furthermore, she accuses him of misconduct with other women and she secured a temporary injunction restraining Miller from interfering or molesting her in the custody of their child.

Alfred Case Dismissed

Dismissing the petition for divorce and alimony of Edna Mae Alfred, of Seventh street, against Roscoe D. Alfred, Front street shoemaker, Judge Thomas Friday made a finding in favor of the defendant on the issues joined. The case was submitted to the court a few days ago and was continued for further investigation. The wife charged neglect. The couple were married in May 1920, and have been separated since last August.

Finding for Cook

After hearing arguments of counsel in the case of Corn Carpenter against Creighton Cook and others, involving title to land of the estate of the late Sarah K. Cook, who died at her home in this city several months ago, Judge Thomas in Common Pleas court handed down his decision Thursday afternoon, finding for the defendant, Creighton S. Cook, and awarding him title to a farm on the West Side.

Attorneys George W. Sheppard and Harry W. Miller represented the losing side and Attorney E. G. Millar appeared for Cook.

Jailed for Contempt

Mrs. Beatrice Carpenter, Front and Waller streets, was sent to jail for five days for contempt by Judge Thomas Friday when she refused to obey an order of the court to surrender her two children to her husband, Ober Carpenter, Sciotoville brickworker, to whose custody they had been awarded by the decree issued which also divorced him from the wife.

When Mrs. Carpenter left the court room at the close of the hearing she was in an angry mood and declared she would not surrender possession of the children, aged 4 and two years, and when she arrived home and found Deputy Sheriff Frank Bennett, Miss Emma Hubert and Carpenter there she started a demonstration and attacked Miss Hubert. She was finally restrained and the children were taken. Judge Ball for Carpenter then filed an information complaint on which an attachment was issued for Mrs. Carpenter and she was brought before the court to explain why she should not be punished.

The hearing disclosed that Mrs. Carpenter had displayed little affection for the children, having deserted them a number of times, on one occasion for several weeks when she left to join a carnival company. It was also established that she had neglected her husband, children and home for the association of other men. They were married in August, 1916.

The decree, which was granted on the grounds of cruelty and neglect, will not be operative for six months. Attorney H. J. Small appeared for the wife.

Wife Seeks Divorce

Bertha Yates charges cruelty and neglect in her suit for divorce instituted in Common Pleas court Thursday against A. Dudley Yates, address unknown, whom she married June 2, 1919.

Through Attorney Joseph T. Mickelthwait the wife alleges that Yates failed and refused to provide for her properly during the time she lived with him and declares that his treatment of her was so bad as to compel her to leave him last February.

WILL PUSH SALE OF XMAS SEALS

Plans have been perfected for the most extensive Christmas Seal sale in Scioto county in years, eighteen committees of 55 business men having already been appointed to look after the main work of disposing of the seals this year. Plans for the Christmas Seal campaign were completed last night at a well attended session of business men.

It is up to Scioto county through the purchase of these Christmas Seals to wipe out the stain that has been given the county through the large number of tubercular cases that develop in this county each year.

The high record of tuberculosis in Scioto county has been a fact that has been commented upon by state health workers frequently. This year the business men have decided that it is high time that an effort be made to remove this stigma from Scioto county and they intend to do their part by directing the sale of Christmas seals.

Their efforts will be extended to ward a goal that will take real hard work to reach. The sale this year is expected to be of such volume that it will offset the fact that this county has a higher rate of tubercular cases than any other in the state.

In order to reach this goal every worker must give his best efforts in the campaign to sell the thousands of seals or stamps which Scioto county has asked the Ohio Public Health Association to send here for disposal.

The sale starts at once, today, and lasts until Christmas time. The seals are helping to save over 75,000 lives annually in the United States. The Ohio Public Health Association is the state agency for the sale of seals.

The seals are the size of a postage stamp and make ideal seals for Christmas packages and letters. They may be used anywhere any other kind of a Christmas holiday seal is used. The seals sell for one cent each and may be purchased in any amount.

The local organization of business men have these facts before them on which to work. Last year $8,000 was spent in tubercular work in Scioto county. Christmas Seals were sold to an amount of $1500 which makes a deficit of $6500. An effort will be made to clear away this deficit in the sale this year.

It has been decided to give two prizes to schools in a sale contest. The school selling the most seals will receive a prize of $10 and the second highest a prize of $5. The money will be used for playground equipment.

The committees and men in charge of the work are as follows:

General committee—F. E. Adams, Simon Labold, R. G. Bryan, L. J. Haldeman.

Ellis, Charged With First Degree Murder Pleads Not Guilty; Held To Grand Jury

Felix Ellis, negro, charged with first degree murder for the killing of Arthur Tinsley, colored, Wednesday night, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in Municipal court Friday afternoon and waving examination through his attorneys, Miller and Scott and Horace L. Small, Judge McCall adjourned the defendant held for the grand jury action without bond.

The prisoner, who conversed with friends during the brief hearing, was promptly removed to the county jail.

Ohio's Only Toll Bridge Soon To Pass Into History

COLUMBUS, O., December 2.—Ohio's only toll bridge, that on the Buffalo complaint, against Ellis was filed by Newton Tinsley, brother of the victim of the shooting, which occurred in the North End Wednesday night.

Chicago road at the entrance to Columbus, is destined to pass into history in the near future, along with similar bridges of earlier time, according to State Highway Commissioner Herrick. At a conference today between the county commissioners of Ashland county and Commissioner Herrick plans for constructing a new free bridge at Conneaut and also at Ashland were tentatively approved. The two projects will cost approximately $1,250,000, Mr. Herrick said. The plan agreed upon is for the county to raise half the funds and the state with the aid of federal money to supply the other half. Mr. Herrick said that it is probable that only the Conneaut bridge will be built next summer as the federal department probably will object to furnishing so much money in one year for the two projects. The federal department, he said, has tentatively approved the Conneaut project. The two bridges are each approximately 1,500 feet long. The Conneaut bridge is to be located about 600 or 700 feet north of the present location, or, as Mr. Herrick said, to permit traffic to go straight through the city without necessitating numerous turns as at present.

Seek To Prove Plot

COLUMBIA CITY, IND., Dec. 2.—Alton S. Widaman, a Warsaw attorney, went on the witness stand today in furtherance of the state's efforts to prove that Fred Decker conspired with other members of his family to kill Leroy Lovett last March and collect $25,000 insurance. Mr. Widaman told of Fred Decker's purchase of a farm for approximately $8,000 and the method of payment. The state is attempting to show that the defendant conspired with a brother, Virgil Decker, to kill Lovett, collect the insurance, and in this manner meet the notes due on the farm. Virgil Decker and Lovett resembled each other. After Lovett was killed members of the Decker family claimed the body as that of Virgil Decker, on whom there was $25,000 insurance. Virgil Decker is serving a life term for the murder of Lovett.

British To Probe Tarring And Flogging

MIAMI, FLA., December 2.—Acting under telegraphic instructions from the British embassy in Washington, A. H. Hubbard, British vice consul here, today began an investigation into the tarring and flogging and feathering here last August of the Rev. Philip S. Irwin, archdeacon of the Protestant Episcopal church, and a British subject, who was engaged in work among the negroes of Miami. Mr. Hubbard said the inquiry also would include investigation of similar treatment accorded George Doty, a negro blacksmith, in a small town of Duval county. Doty also is a British subject. Both left the country after their experience with their masked attackers.

Sue To Stop Packers' Strike

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 2.—Richard J. Hopkins, state attorney general, today filed a complaint in the Kansas court of industrial relations against the packers and unions and asked the industrial court to take immediate action in an effort to prevent members of the Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America in this state from joining in the strike on Monday.

ing of our county officials and business men, where important matters were discussed in regard to the new state highway. It is claimed that contracts will be let on or about Dec. 21st to build the road.

Local River Observer F. B. Winter received a special wire from Weather Forecaster Devereaux this afternoon from Cincinnati stating that the river was falling at all points east of Cincinnati. The report did not show any material rainfall up the river. The fall since seven o'clock this morning was estimated at less than a foot.

Marshal Hoop Is On Trial At Peebles

The defense had its hearing Friday in the case of George Hoop, Peebles marshal, who was put on trial before Judge Will P. Stephenson and a jury in the Adams county common pleas court Thursday morning under an indictment charging second degree murder for the killing of Earl Hughes last August.

The jury that is hearing the case is composed of two women and ten men and the personnel of the panel follows: J. H. Seamon, Harry Ogle, J. C. Pennington, Emma Howland, Norma Swindler, Charles Scott, G. C. Pope, T. N. Knauft, Cora Davis, O. C. Swearingen and Henry Osmond.

There were more than 75 witnesses present in court to testify for and against the accused and the court room was packed both yesterday and Friday with spectators interested in the proceedings. The state concluded its evidence in chief during the morning session of court today and the defense then started the introduction of testimony in an effort to break down the force of the evidence offered by the prosecution and in support of the claim of the accused that he fired the fatal shot in his proper self defense. It is not expected that the evidence will all be in before Saturday morning in which event the case will probably not go to the jury before late tomorrow afternoon.

WHAT ARE CHANCES FOR BABE RUTH Fifty-nine Home Runs Are A Large Flock TO BREAK HIS HOME RUN RECORD

Is there a chance for Babe Ruth to break the home-run record in 1922? Can it be possible that Ruth will be able to knock out more than 50 home runs during the coming season?

There is a chance but not much more. Even Ruth himself entertains only slight hope that he will be able to come through with a higher mark. When Ruth broke the record with 54 home runs in 1920, it was generally believed that he had set a record that would stand for years. No expert for a minute thought he would come right back and turn the trick in 1921.

In making 50 home runs, Ruth averaged a little better than one home run for every three games. One doesn't have to draw on his imagination very much to realize what a remarkable performance that was.

Early in the spring of 1921, Ruth came out with the prediction that he would make 75 home runs. Perhaps he exaggerated his real thought a trifle but there is no doubt that he believed he would break the record.

He had good reasons for so believing. He had gotten away to a good start. Usually he is a late starter in the spring. In 1920 it was a month or more before he made his first home run. Incidentally, the last seemed to be much livelier. In addition the pitching had suffered, because of the elimination of trick pitching.

A good start, poor pitching, and a lively ball were the three reasons why Ruth believed he would make 75 home runs in 1921.

Ruth broke his record by hitting 59 circuit drives. He might have fulfilled his prediction of 75 homers, had not the ball been toned down, and the pitching improved, as a result of the umpires removing the gloss from all the balls before the start of the game.

Ruth thinks he will be very lucky if he tops 50. He is going to try his very best. He realizes once he slips up on his hitting, his great popularity will wane. That is why he is making a salary demand that has the American League magnates on the verge of nervous prostration.

How About This Juniors?

(Heraldian Herald)

The Smoke House Juniors, of Portsmouth, are following the path of their namesake, when it comes to paying off their opponent's share of the gate receipts. Last Sunday, a bunch of football players, picked up at the last moment, journeyed to the River City to play the Juniors on a $25 guarantee and 40 per cent of the receipts. The only reason they went down to Jesse James' town was to get out of debt.

Pixley New Captain Of The State Eleven

Lloyd A. Pixley has been elected captain of the O. S. U. football team for 1922, the selection being made last night when the players were met by the C. of C. of Columbus. Pixley is one of the best line men in the country and plays smart.

The "O" athletes are: Captain Cyril H. Meyers, Bucyrus, former captain; I. M. Hoffman, Chandler, former captain; Lloyd Pixley, Columbus; Frank Young, Toledo; Dean Trout, Columbus; Robert Spier, Freedom Station; William Slicker, Huron; Noel Workman, John Stuart and Francis Honaker, all of Huntington, W. Va.; Charles Taylor, Martins Ferry; William Isobel, Blacklick; Howard Blair, Mt. Vernon; Riddle and Cotti, Columbus; Kenneth Danley and Charles Weaver, Youngstown; Nelson Dunlap, Kingston; Lewis Moorehead, Toledo; Donald Wilper, Columbus.

It was pointed out that other athletes were ordinarily worthy of recognition but that in view of so many veterans being on the squad, they had little chance to show their merit.

The "O" awards were made on the basis of participation in the Minnesota, Chicago, Michigan or Illinois games.

The Crowns won three easy games from the Bottomers last night, and were in no danger of losing at any time. Hartledge's mark of 480 was the best of the match.

One Waverly player, yesterday, was a pair of real shyness. He probably thought all they did in a football game was to kick—Portsmouth style.

Just a bit wiser than you thought he was, Poley. All Portsmouth does is to kick, if they happen to lose a game, and this player was prepared.

Waverly Republican.

He insists that the Nomads are and always have been ready to meet Troop 17 and his team has been anxiously awaiting some reply from the 17's players or manager. OUR UNDEVELOPED LAND

WHILE it is desirable that at least a temporary check should be placed on immigration because of the danger that we would experience a sort of national indigestion if we attempted to assimilate many more aliens than we now have in this country, the United States is capable of supporting a population several times as large as it is at present.

This is made clear by the statements of an official of the federal reclamation service at the convention of the International Drainage Congress in St. Paul last week. He told of vast areas of good reclaimed lands which are lying unused in spite of enormous expenditures made by the government for drainage and irrigation. He attributed the fact that this land is not being developed to the lack of a proper system of colonization.

Besides this reclaimed land there are millions of acres of swamp, desert and cut-over forest which can be made tillable. In the East are thousands of abandoned farms which could again be made productive. It was stated at a farmers' meeting in Ohio the other day that there is infertile land in the state, equal in area to six counties of average size, on which it would be possible to raise good crops if the soil were enriched with lime; and one speaker stated that it would pay the railroads to haul the limestone free of charge because of the freight revenues which they would gain from having this land under cultivation.

There is plenty of room on the soil for newcomers. The density of our population in the agricultural regions is as nothing compared with that of some of the European and Asiatic countries.

Immigration has become a troublesome problem because the incoming aliens have not spread out and cultivated the land but have congregated in cities and manufacturing centers.

COMBING THE COUNTRY

THE difference between the alertness of offenders against the law and the police is cuttishly illustrated by the story of a young bandit who robbed a mail truck two years ago and spent the time since in burning up the $45,000 he says he obtained by the exploit. Immediately after the holdup in Indianapolis he went to his home in Chicago where he persuaded a sweetheart to elope with him. The pair went to Milwaukee for several days and returned to Chicago. Then a trip to Los Angeles followed, where the youthful travelers were married, the man using his own name under which he was known from that time forward, while the police were theoretically "combing the country" for him.

He spent $25,000 learning to manipulate an airplane and buying three machines. Once he was arrested for speeding an automobile and was much amused to see a big circular with his picture and description on a wall in the police court where he was fined. No one recognized him. The law did not touch him until he returned to Chicago and surrendered—his money all spent. This is almost a match for the story of the New York fugitive who drove his car along a line of 10,000 policemen all supposed to have his face memorized and many of whom knew him. Not one recognized him and he laughingly drove away. It is evident the police do not take the same interest in their work that crooks do in theirs.

Admiral Sims is out with a warning against "minds absolutely closed to plain facts." The admiral believes in ventilating his frequently.

When reading a newspaper in a street car, if one holds it so the person on either side can read it also, it is evidence of a generous disposition.

Alleged humorists, repudiated statesmen, nondescript journalists and a few worth-while reporters are trying to tell what they know about the Washington conference.

For a married man to cultivate will power would appear to be wasted effort unless he can exercise some of it at home.

Many phone numbers are called, but few are gotten.

Drivers who try to beat trains are jumping at conclusions.

My Pal
(By Jesse W. Bier)

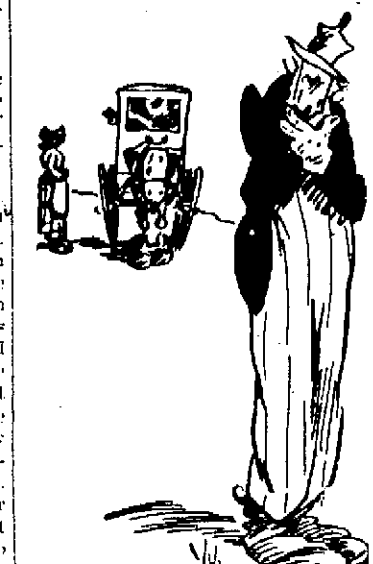

I ain't much for wimmen,
I don't care for dogs;
And a cat I just simply abhor.
But I have one pal,
And I call her my gal,
And that is my old motor car.

Her cushions are ragged,
Her fenders are bent,
And her rumble gears all to the bum,
But she is some class,
When I give her the gas,
And her motor commences to hum.

Her top it is sagging,
Her side has a dent,
And her body has many a squeak,
But with a smooth road,
And a moderate load,
We are simply a rattlin' streak.

I care not a bit what
The 'bureau may bring,
I'm satisfied just as it is,
Life's just one sweet song
As I amble along
In my rough ridin' bumpin' tin Liz.

"The fact that his supposedly adored big brother was returning home from college that day had been carefully concealed from ten-year-old Tommy until he came back from school."

"Tommy," said his mother, after her younger son had gone upstairs to wash his face and the elder had been concealed in the pantry, "I have a big surprise for you."

"I know what it is," replied Tommy meekly. "Brother's back."

"Why, how did you guess that?"

"Cause my bank won't rattle any more."

One Good Turn

Prohibitionist (sipping suspiciously): "I wonder what caused this elder to turn."

Old Soak (malleously): "Perhaps there was a worm in the apple."

Wise Jottings

It's always advisable for a poor liar to tell the truth.

A thorough rose would not impress people very deeply.

It's as easy to talk as it is difficult to say something.

Some people seem to be afflicted with selfish generosity.

It is easy to think that we shall get up early in the morning.

Many a man who knows what is right lacks the courage to do it.

Deliberately Unfriendly

"I want you to meet Jibby."

"What for?"

"He was on board a liner that was torpedoed during the war."

"That's an old story."

"Exactly. I've heard him tell it dozens of times and I'm looking around for a new victim."

That Was a Hot One

"The bride refused to invite the Mrs. Smith to her wedding, but Mrs. Smith got even with her."

"How?"

"She sent the groom a box of dyspepsia tablets for a wedding present."

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

You will always have "Miss" precede your name on calling cards if you are unmarried.

You will have a black border on your mourning cards, the width varying with the nearness of the deceased.

You will send your mother's card with your own when sending flowers to a young man who is ill.

You will fold your napkin double before placing it across your lap.

GOOD TASTING BRICKS

Peerless ice cream is done up in good tasting bricks of different flavors that your palate can do justice to. Try some for its pure and nourishing qualities.
